VIRGINIA LONG

Position: Counsel, Fox Rothschild LLP, in Princeton

Key role: I am spearheading Fox Rothschild's alternative dispute resolution practice in New Jersey, assisting clients with ethics and appellate matters, corporate governance and governmental integrity investigations.

Goals: Having a deep reservoir of experience as presiding judge in the Appellate Division and as an associate justice of the Supreme Court, I will put that experience into practice as a mediator and arbitrator in complex disputes. And, now that I'm on the other side of the bench, I hope to continue to impact people's lives across the state.

Previous jobs: In addition to my role as a New Jersey Supreme Court justice, I previously served as deputy attorney general for the state of New Jersey, director of the New Jersey Division of Consumer Affairs, as commissioner of the former New Jersey Department of Banking, and as an associate at Pitney Hardin & Kipp (now Day Pitney).

Key strengths: Compassion, integrity and commitment to professional excellence.

Career high: Every year that I spent as a Supreme Court justice. It was the best job in the world.
