An experienced and versatile trial attorney, Caroline represents clients in a wide range of complex commercial litigation including insurance defense, high-value personal injury cases and construction disputes.

She also serves as outside general counsel, providing companies with full-service representation and advice on matters involving regulatory compliance, employment law, internal investigations, land use and zoning, litigation management and contract issues.

A former prosecutor, Caroline is tenacious, innovative and strategic — qualities refined over more than a decade with the Philadelphia District Attorney's Office, where she led hundreds of successful criminal prosecutions while forging multi-agency partnerships and focusing on criminal justice reform in the city.

In her role as Chief of the District Attorney's Gun Violence Task Force — an interagency partnership with the Pennsylvania Office of Attorney General — Caroline investigated and prosecuted gun traffickers in Pennsylvania. While serving in this and other leadership posts at the DA's Office, Caroline became a leading adviser on firearms and violent crime policy, legislation and funding for cities and agencies throughout the country.

Before Fox Rothschild

Before joining Fox Rothschild, Caroline held multiple posts in the Philadelphia District Attorney's Office. In 2012, she became the youngest assistant district attorney appointed as a unit chief. As senior managing attorney, she later served simultaneously as chief of both the Gun Violence Task Force and Violent Crime Strategies Unit.

Before becoming a lawyer, Caroline interned for the Maryland Office of the Lieutenant Governor, for a bankruptcy law firm in Baltimore and for MBNA America Bank, now owned by Bank of America.

Beyond Fox Rothschild

Caroline frequently speaks on policy and strategy development and conducts CLE presentations and trainings. She also serves as a guest lecturer at several Philadelphia universities and law schools.
