Henry is a trial lawyer with a track record of success in the courtroom.

He has a broad range of experience, including copyright, trademark, and patent litigation, complex commercial and business disputes, and white-collar criminal matters. Henry has represented clients ranging from private, closely held and mid-size companies to Fortune 500 corporations, as well as individual entrepreneurs, designers and musicians.

In every matter, Henry focuses his energy on developing practical solutions for his clients' problems, which often involve more than just legal considerations. He has courtroom experience at the state and federal level and has represented clients at arbitrations and mediations.

Before Fox Rothschild

Prior to joining Fox, Henry was an associate at a global law firm. Before that, he practiced in a California law firm and a law firm in New York City.

During law school, Henry was a judicial extern for U.S. District Judge George H. Wu of the Central District of California, focusing on intellectual property disputes. He also worked as a research assistant for evidence professors Jennifer Mnookin and Assaf Likhovski.
