Jerry practiced extensively in the area of traditional labor law, representing employers throughout the United States and Canada. His practice encompassed all aspects of the labor/management relationship, including collective bargaining, labor arbitrations, the administration of labor contracts, and union avoidance. Jerry advised employers on long-term employment and labor law workforce strategies, including relocations, consolidations, mergers, and acquisitions.

Jerry represented numerous multi-employer bargaining associations in a wide variety of industries, including hotels/casinos, wholesale liquor, supermarkets, transportation and manufacturing. He was Special Labor Counsel to the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority under former Governors Thomas Kean and Christine Todd Whitman and was Special Labor Counsel to the NY/NJ Port Authority under former Governor Kean. He also served as Special Labor Counsel to former Governor Whitman.

Before Fox Rothschild

Jerry was the founder and CEO of Grotta, Glassman & Hoffman, P.C. (GG&H), a national labor and employment boutique law firm representing management. He was one of the business development forces behind GG&H's growth from a local labor and employment law firm to a nationally recognized boutique representing a wide array of industries. At GG&H, Jerry represented family-owned businesses as well as Fortune 500 companies.
