Keith serves as a member of the firm's Executive Committee. His practice focuses on business and employment litigation and counseling, with extensive experience in the retail, staffing and manufacturing industries. He offers counsel on a wide range of issues including:

- business disputes
- trade secrets
- reorganizations
- terminations
- corrective action
- developing policies
- investigating misconduct
- accommodating disabilities

With an extensive background in business administration and accounting, Keith brings business sense to his counseling, determining the overarching business issues that may impact a particular issue or dispute and advising clients accordingly.

As a litigator, Keith has successfully represented companies in issues such as:

- commercial disputes
- trade secrets
- discrimination and harassment
- wage and hour compliance
- wrongful discharge disputes

Keith also has extensive experience in arbitration and mediation of litigation matters. He has a knack for developing positive relationships not only with senior management, but with inside and outside counsel. Keith is accessible, has significant courtroom experience and is able to translate complex issues into a language that anyone can understand.

In addition to his litigation practice, Keith serves as a San Francisco and Contra Costa County Fee Resolution Arbitrator, and as a panelist for the San Francisco County Bar Association's Early Settlement Program.

Before Fox Rothschild

Prior to joining the firm, Keith was a partner at Kauff McClain & McGuire LLP in San Francisco, California. Before law school, Keith spent several years in the accounting field.

Beyond Fox Rothschild

California Makes Sexual Harassment Prevention Training Mandatory. We Make It More Effective.

More than ever before, the topic of sexual harassment is dominating the news.

It's time to make sure that your company's sexual harassment prevention training is up to the task.

California law mandates at least two hours of sexual harassment prevention training for supervisory employees in all businesses with 50+ employees. Training must be done within six months of hire or promotion, and every two calendar years.

In-Person Training is More Interactive, Topical and Enjoyable.

On-site training in a group setting with an interactive approach is the ideal method for achieving the goal of a harassment-free workplace.

In-person training can be tailored to your industry and the unique challenges faced by the particular worksite. The examples and stories we use in our training modules will resonate with your staff.

Engaging and interactive sessions are not only more fun, they're also more memorable and therefore make a lasting impression on your staff.

Skilled attorneys are essential to effective training for managerial staff. We can answer questions accurately and back up our information with real-world examples from the cases we have handled.

Fox Rothschild's San Francisco office has a dynamic and talented team of attorneys ready to conduct your training.

Take a break from the online routine, and make sure that your next sexual harassment prevention training is a “wow,” not just a check-the-box compliance item.
