Co-Chair of the firm's International Trade Practice Group, Lizbeth has more than 25 years of experience in a wide range of complex international and business matters, including anti-dumping and countervailing duty investigations, safeguard measures, and cross-border patent and trademark infringement disputes under Section 337. She often handles anti-dumping matters on behalf of clients from Argentina, China, Ecuador, France, India and Mexico.

Fluent in French and proficient in Spanish, Lizbeth works with clients from across the globe, from multinational corporations to U.S. importers and retailers.

Lizbeth has successfully represented many companies in actions brought under the Enforce and Protect Act (EAPA). She also is well-versed in USMCA and customs matters related to tariff classification of imported goods, valuation, prior disclosures and deemed liquidation issues.

Lizbeth has extensive experience litigating international trade disputes before binational panels and federal courts. She has practiced before the U.S. Department of Commerce, the U.S. International Trade Commission, the U.S. Customs and Border Protection, the U.S. Court of International Trade and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.
